Event Handling Exercises

Shopping List

In this exercise, you'll continue working with the shopping list. You'll use event handling to add some behavior to the shopping list application.

Shopping List Exercise Readme

Calculator Exercise

In this exercise, you'll build a simple calculator. This calculator handles basic operations like addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division. The user interface for this project has already been created. You'll focus on building out its functionality.

Calculator Exercise Readme